

PEDIATRIC HOME HEALTH THERAPY

Every child has potential and deserves the highest quality of care to reach that potential. Pediatric therapists are special individuals with a love of children and a combination of skills that can help unlock your child's strengths. Our therapists are highly skilled professionals, many of whom have additional training such as Neuro-Developmental Treatment (NDT) and Dysphagia and Sensory Integration Dysfunction to provide the specialized services that your child needs. We are able to provide individual physical, occupational and speech/language therapy in your home to meet goals that have been approved by your physician as medically necessary. Your child may qualify for services in the home even if they are receiving services in the school. Therapy is provided for a wide variety of developmental disorders including but not limited to autism, developmental delays, cerebral palsy, neuromuscular disorders and speech delays.
